The tax routine every investor should have

A preview of the full guide

What you'll see here

A quick tax map, the tax-folder architecture, and the monthly checklist.

In the full guide

45 pages covering stocks, REITs, ETFs, foreign assets, crypto, distributions, and a 30-day plan.

Before you start

This sample gives you a preview of the full guide. This material is educational and does not replace an accountant, tax advisor, or your local tax authority's official guidance.

CORE PRINCIPLE

The investor's biggest mistake isn't not knowing a tax rate. It's leaving everything to organize in the last month, with no records and no cost-basis tracking.

- ✓ This material does not promise a refund or guaranteed savings.
- ✓ We teach method, not a tax shortcut.

The investor needs to separate holdings, income, and capital gains.

Type	Where it usually shows up
Holdings	Assets/holdings section
Trades	Periodic tracking and tax payments when owed

IN THE FULL GUIDE

You get the complete map, who needs to pay extra attention, what usually requires periodic tracking, and the investor's essential vocabulary.

Tax folder architecture

Create one folder per tax year, and monthly subfolders inside it.

Folder	Contents
01 - Statements	Statements from banks, brokers, and foreign accounts.
02 - Confirmations	Trade confirmations separated by month.

IN THE FULL GUIDE

The full monthly checklist, documents you should keep, and the routine module by module: fixed income, stocks, frequent trading, REITs, ETFs, foreign-listed shares, distributions, foreign assets, crypto, and annual filing.

The monthly investor checklist

Do this every month in 20 to 40 minutes.

- ✓ Download last month's trade confirmations.
- ✓ Update the average cost basis per asset.
- ✓ Check tax already withheld and any tax owed.

IN THE FULL GUIDE

Complete workbooks, a manual tracking worksheet, a final checklist before filing, and the most costly common mistakes.
