blocks of personal financial diagnosis

risk profiles explained in plain language

Before you start

- ✓ This is a free preview of the complete guide "Investing from Zero: A Complete Method"
- ✓ The content is 100% educational — it does not recommend specific assets or promise returns
- ✓ The complete guide covers all 18 areas of the method, including fixed income, funds, REITs, stocks, ETFs, portfolio building, investor psychology and much more

THE METHOD'S CENTRAL RULE

Diagnose, protect, allocate, contribute, rebalance and review — in that order. Skipping steps is the most common mistake of people who start on their own.

The 6 blocks of your diagnosis

Before opening any investing app, answer these 6 blocks honestly.

Block	What to look at
Income	All sources, including variable ones
Expenses	Fixed, variable and the "invisible" ones
Debt	Outstanding balance and interest rate on each debt
Emergency fund	What's already saved
Goals	What the money needs to do for you
Behavior	How you react to loss and urgency

Emergency fund: a first benchmark

Profile	Recommended emergency fund
Very stable income	3 to 6 months of essential expenses
Variable income	6 to 12 months of essential expenses
Starting from zero	A small, meaningful initial goal

IN THE COMPLETE GUIDE

You'll find where to keep your emergency fund, a hands-on compound interest example, the adapted 50-30-20 budget, the order of attack on debt, and the 4 risk-profile levels with the full "million-dollar question".

● Start now

- ☐ Add up your monthly income from all sources
- ☐ List your debts with the interest rate on each one
- ☐ Write down how much you already have saved as an emergency fund

COMPLETE GUIDE

Continue with the complete method

The complete guide "Investing from Zero: A Complete Method" covers all 18 areas of the method: fixed income, funds, REITs, stocks, ETFs, retirement accounts, portfolio building, investor psychology, scam protection, a 30-day execution plan and a decision library.

No promise of returns, no asset recommendations — just a clear method to help you decide with more awareness.
